

Summary

Mycotoxin adsorbents are produced containing an organically modified (organophilic) layered silicate, in which quaternary onium compounds with at least one chain C_{10} to C_{22} alkyl group and at least one aromatic substituent are used for modification, or containing a mixture of nonorganically modified silicate and a layered silicate organically modified at least to 75%, referred to the total cation exchange capacity (CEC).